This broad career field has an average salary of $103,360 in South Carolina. If you like working with people and have an eye for detail, management might be your path to success.

Managers do what the name suggests: manage. But what do they manage? That can vary widely. Restaurants, retail stores, administrative services businesses, marketing firms, factories, and just about every other type of organization need managers. Depending on the type of business, the daily responsibilities of a manager are different. Regardless of the industry, managers supervise people and operations to make sure everything runs smoothly, efficiently, and on schedule.

Management is a people-focused profession. At the end of the day, managers are tasked with optimizing employee efficiency while also making sure those employees are happy and comfortable. For this reason, managers need to enjoy working with people. If you have poor communication skills or are hostile towards your coworkers, you won't be able to get the best performance out of them. This is a thriving field, with 113,230 jobs available in South Carolina and a projected 9% growth rate through 2030, so you should get started in management today!

Oversee day-to-day operations and keep things running smoothly.
